(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) NORFCLK, VA., January 9.-Berkley, suburban town of 10,000 inhabitants, was formally annexed to Norfolk as the Berkley Ward this afternoon by the of Judge Taylor Garnett, sitting in the Norfolk County Circuit Court. The city is to expend in Berkley Ward each for five years $20,000, and to provide for the territory taken in as soon as possible, eight paid firemen, one ser ant of police and nine patrolmen. Norfolk is to assume $30,000 of five per cent, bonds issued by the school board of Washington District, and $30,000 as the share of the town of Berkley in the debt of Norfolk county.

SHIP ON SHORE.

The Virginia and North Carolina coasts were swept by a severe gale last night, the wind reaching a velocity of forty-two miles an hour at Cape Hatteras and forty miles an hour at the Virginia Capes, with a twenty-seven miles an hour gale at Norfolk. A snow-tsorm raged for some time, and in the midst of this the five-masted schooner Fannie Palmer, some time, and in the midst of this the five-masted schooner Fannie Palmer, from Boston to Hampton Roads to load coal, was, while attempting to enter the Virginia Capes, blown twelve miles south of Cape Henry and driven ashore near the Little Island life saving station.

BREECHES BUOY.

The vessel pounded heavily in the seas, but when the lifesavers succeeded in sending a breeches buoy to the men abourd, only one man was sent ashore, and he came to bring messages to the Boston owners of the vessel. Captain Nash and the remaining members of the crew refused for some time to leave the Palmer, but when the storm grew more severe and the crew began suffering from the cold, signals were sent to the lifesavers to reace Captain Nash and his men. The Palmer is supposed to be light.

Captain Coley, of the Merritt & Chapman Wyserking Courses.

Captain Coley, of the Merritt & Chapman Wrecking Company, has proceeded overland to inspect the vessel and see what can be done toward saving her. The storm was too severe on the outside to-day to send a wrecking steamer and crew to the geene.

CAPT, MARSH INDICTED.

Wm. Gallagher Not An Irishman, But a Subject of Austria.

But a Subject of Austria.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

ALEHANDRIA, VA. January 9.—An indictment was returned against Captain William Marsh. of the Chesapeake Bay object boat "Ethel Ruth. No. X." charging him with cruelties to William J. Gallagher, a member of his crew.

It was alleged that Gallagher had been beaten, imprisoned and deprived of food in the Wiscomico River last fall. The case came up from Richmond.

It now turns out that Gallagher is not an Irishman, as his name would indicate, but claims to be an Austrian. It would seem that his claim has some foundation, for the Austrian Minister at Washington has interested himself in the case and it is understood he will appear in the court at Alexandria to look after the interest of the supposed Austrian with a decided Irish name. The developments in the case so far are such as to indicate that it will turn on the question of peonage. It is certainly a case that will attract attention in Tidewater, Virginia.

Question About Four Hundred in Gold Dug Up.

Gold Dug Up.

(Special to The Trimes-Dispatch.)

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., January 9.—

FREDERICKSBURG, VA., January 9.—

Snow fell here last night to the depth of about two inches and there was a big drop in the temperature, with prospects for a freeze, which the owners of fee-bouses are anxiously wishing for.

Bone months ago $400 in gold and silver, supposed to have been buried by the late Oscar D. Johnson, was dug up at the latter's home near Shiloh Baptist Church, in King George county. There was a question as to the ownership and the money was placed in the bank by the trustees of the church, as the property on which the treasure was found had been purchased for a parsonage.

At King George Court last week Fletcher Johnston, of Washington, had the estate of Oscar Johnson committed to the hands of Sheriff Owens, with the view of instituting suit for the recovery of the money. Sheriff Owens is also one of the trustees of the church, so he is a party on both sides of the suit.

PEST ISLAND. Objection to Use of Craney Island.

Government, under an act permitting the government to requir ethe island for magazine and arsenal purposes, is now being used by the government and the city of Norfolk, for harboring patients infected with contagious diseases.

The petition alleges that the present purpose for which the island is used is detrimental to the interests of the petitioner as well as to the shipping interests of the port of Norfolk.

Craney Island was ceded to the government in 1817, by George D, Wise, and other members of the old Virginia family of that name.
